EXPO FOR GOOD

Recently, some of our team attended Expo For Good held by Grace House.

Grace House is a Sunderland-based Charity that works across the North East, providing support to disabled children, young people, and their families.

They decided to bring together the North East business community to showcase their businesses while also raising funds for this vital charity in the form of Expo For Good.

Many businesses were exhibited, including The Unite Group, and there was a fantastic lineup of guest speakers.

It was a great day and our team had the chance to have some good conversations.

New Networking Event

We previously attended the Network+ Fall into Networking event.

It was a fantastic evening including a free drink, nibbles, games and prizes.

We had some good conversations and it was great to see some familiar faces as well as a lot of new ones.

The next Network+ evening networking event is Christmas jumper themed and will be in support of Grace House.

Keep an eye out on socials for more information!

Cyber Essentials

In light of Cyber Security Awareness month, we want to highlight what Cyber Essentials is and how it can benefit your business!

Cyber Essentials is a Government-backed and industry-supported scheme that allows businesses to protect themselves from cyber-attacks. The scheme lays out a clear statement of the basic cybersecurity measures an organisation should have in place to protect themselves from the growing threat of attacks.

It is a foundation-level certification, created to provide the basic controls that organisations should have in place to reduce the risk of common cyber threats. As a result, this first step protects you from 80% of the most basic cyber security breaches.

DON'T BUY A NEW SERVER MOVE TO SHAREPOINT

SharePoint is a cloud-based service hosted by Microsoft for businesses of all sizes (Microsoft, 2022). SharePoint allows businesses to share and manage content between employees.

As a business owner, how often do you find yourself unable to find that document in time for that important meeting? Do your staff spend lots of time following paper trails or searching through emails for important company updates? A simple IT solution is to upload all documents to your business SharePoint.

With all documents, announcements, and updates in one place you will be creating a workspace primed for enhanced collaboration and teamwork. Colleagues can share files and updates in real-time as well as collaborate on documents at the same time.

How does your business currently handle common business functions such as collecting feedback or tracking issues? Thought about it? I bet there could be some room for improvement, enough to free up some of your precious time. With SharePoint, you can integrate workflows designed to automate your common business functions. Making it easier to keep track of day-to-day tasks.

One of the best reasons to use SharePoint as an IT solution is that it is customisable to your business needs. Whether it be customising the interface to match your branding or full customisation of workflows. You can make it work best for you.
